

SPECTRUM Services

“Helping you be the you in this social world we live in”

Back-to-School Fall 2020 offerings

School is starting soon and Spectrum is committed to supporting your student, and family, during this unconventional return to learning.

Executive Functioning Coaching/Structured Study Time IN-PERSON* $130/2 HR Block

As our students return to school with a virtual learning model many of our families are seeing the need for in-person, hands-on support for their students. Spectrum’s EF coaches will support your student 1:1, in-person, at our Austin office. Spectrum EF coaches are well trained and experienced in providing support with a diverse range of schooling needs, across all abilities. Students will receive support with: organization, task completion, prioritization and successful engagement in online learning.

Space is limited

Needs Assessment VIRTUAL* $400/needs assessment

Now is a great time to reset and evaluate new and continued skill growth areas for your student. In an effort to help families establish Fall goals, Spectrum is offering a needs assessment, with a special focus on: social, emotional, executive functioning, and adaptive/independent living skills. At the conclusion of the needs assessment, a “needs report” will be generated. This report can be shared with teachers, therapists, and others supporting your student. This is a great way for your student’s new teacher to get a “snapshot” of their needs.

Fall Social Skills Groups VIRTUAL* $715 (11 week Fall tuition)

Social connection is so important for our students, always, but especially right now. We have social skills groups for all school-aged (and beyond) students. We’ve been offering groups virtually all summer and although different than our usual in-person groups, we’ve found great ways to make them engaging, fun and full of social emotional learning.

Real Support Right Now